

Saving $27,400 and a headache over fenders.

During a visit with a customer in the marine trailer industry, we noticed they had a stockpile of bad fenders on the factory floor. Their current supplier was having quality issues with shipping and packaging, resulting in many fenders arriving scratched, dinged up, or rusted.

Besides the hassle of returning the product and delaying production, the manufacturer also had to wait for credits on each returned fender.

HITCHWORKS CREATED A NEW SUPPLY CHAIN FOR THIS TRAILER MANUFACTURER'S STEEL FENDERS.

In fixing their quality issues, our new supply chain created annual savings of $27,400 for the customer.

Hitchworks also provided stocking and releasing of the fenders to help improve the manufacturers cash flow and onsite storage utilization.

Hitchworks equips trailer manufacturers to build better trailers and increase profit through component development, manufacturing, distribution, and sourcing.
